Description:

The loader operator had just finished cleaning out the IW system and washed his loader. He climbed up into the cab to raise the bucket so that a driver that was helping him could wash the ground under it. When he attempted to come back down his foot slipped off the top step due to the sole of his boot being wet and muddy, as was the case with the step. He tried to hold onto the handrails but was unable to keep from falling to the ground injuring his right hip.
